

Panini Shares Remote Deposit Expertise with Businesses Attending AFP Conference

Company Providing Project Consulting Sessions, Introducing Remote Deposit Innovation

Dayton, Ohio (November 7, 2011) – This week, at the AFP Annual Conference in Boston, the year's largest conference sponsored by the Association for Financial Professionals, Panini is sharing their remote deposit capture (RDC) expertise directly with business organizations. Finance professionals from many different firms and industries will be introduced to Panini's remote deposit innovation and have the opportunity to receive individual RDC project consulting specific to their environment.

"This conference is a great opportunity for us to interact directly with finance professionals and help them understand the efficiencies and business benefits available to them with RDC," says Michael Pratt, Chief Marketing Officer, Panini. "As the RDC market leaders, we're thrilled to share our expertise and help these companies evaluate the right solution for their organization."

Panini has been independently confirmed as the market share leader in the RDC industry for the past five consecutive years, and offers a full range of innovative hardware and asset management software to complete any remote deposit solution. The company's vast experience in leading RDC project deployments led to the formation of a Panini team specifically chartered to assist businesses with the evaluation, project development, management, and implementation of RDC solutions. The team will be conducting individual RDC project consulting sessions with conference attendees.

Finance professionals attending the AFP Conference will also be introduced to Panini's remote deposit innovation portfolio, which includes solutions that allow users to achieve cost effective RDC, capture additional RDC-related documents and manage their RDC deployments. The company will feature their latest breakthrough scanner management solution, Panini Avantor, and their remote deposit check scanning products including the Panini I:Deal, Panini wI:Deal and Panini Vision X. Solution demonstrations are available to all conference attendees in the Panini Booth #1912.
